GVL completes several projects in Sinoe County

inoe County- Golden Veroleum Liberia Inc. (GVL) has completed construction works on a 13.5-kilometer road linking Plouh community to Geekloh (Butaw Seasided) in Butaw District, Sinoe

County, as part of its commitment to improving road conditions and connecting communities in counties covered by its operations in Liberia.

The road project, which fulfills Memorandum of Understanding Incorporating Social Agreement

(MoU/SA) signed between GVL and Butaw District communities in February of 2017, will now improve access to the local economy and reduce long distance walking by residents while enhancing transportation of patients and local produce to Greenville and other health facilities amid road connectivity challenge in the country.

The newly constructed road will help improve the lives of community residents, as the lack of roads has caused many citizens to move to other communities in search of better life. This is the first time those communities have gained access to a motor road.

Upon signing the MOU in 2017, GVL constructed 3 kilometers road linking Tugbe Village to Jimmy Doe town in Ceedor township, Butaw District, including Butaw Nurses quarters, Butaw Senior High School, and the Butaw general market, one of several projects agreed upon.

GVL in partnership with the Government of Liberia through the Ministry of Public Works is currently rehabilitating about 272 kilometers of primary laterite roads connecting Pleebo in Maryland County to Weah Town in Tarjuowon Statutory District, Sinoe County.

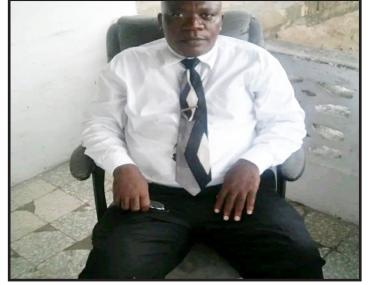

In another development, GVL under its Golden Veroleum Education Support (GES) program has completed construction works on two elementary schools in Ceedor Community and Sieh Town, including an auditorium for the Gibsonville School in Grisgby farm respectively, improving conditions for school-going children who once attended classes

LEC's Gap Communities Electrification Project is welcoming

THE LIBERIA ELECTRICITY Corporation (LEC) has embarked on an ambitious program to electrify four communities in some suburbs of Monrovia. The Gap Communities Electrification Project (G-CEP) that seeks to expand electricity in slum communities and help curtail power theft is worth commendation.

THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR for Engineering and Major Connections (PEMC) at LEC, Dele I. Shobayo, said the project is an effort to overcome power poverty, while decentralizing electricity to foster socio-economic development and improve livelihoods of residents.

THIS IS A noble program and should be applauded by I every well-meaning Liberian, because it's aimed at l improving citizens' lives by stimulation local economic activities and providing security.

THERE ARE DOZENS of communities in and around Monrovia and across the country that are without electricity. Citizens are subjected to darkness, local businesses are strangulated and students are unable to study at night because of lack of electricity.

THE G-CEP THAT is connecting 72nd Army Camp Field Community in Paynesville, Lonestar Cell Number One, Jacob Town and Iron Factory communities, respectively is poised to put smiles on faces of residents.

THOUGH THE LEC is faced with serious capacity challenge, but we hope that this initiative would be extended to other equally slum communities were citizens are walloping in darkness. It should not be selectively done.

BESIDES ECONOMIC AND social benefits, electricity is security, as it drives away criminals and others contemplating on carry out other dubious acts under the cover of darkness.

FOR NEARLY 20 years since the cessation of arm conflict in Liberia, lack of electricity has remained a serious remain exorbitantly high for most small Meanwhile, farmers across the continent are hindrance not just to resuscitating the economy, but promoting security and maintaining a safe society.

IMMEDIATELY AFTER 8PM, major streets across Monrovia are deserted primarily due to insecurity exacerbated by lack of electricity that creates room for crimes to easily flourish. This is why we think the G-CEP is a game changer that should be applauded by citizens.

THEREFORE, WE CALL on government, particularly policymakers at the LEC to consider extending the program to other slum communities so that citizens there will benefit from similar opportunity.

« Le gouvernement a déployé des efforts globalement croissants par rapport à la période de référence précédente, compte tenu de l'impact de la pandémie de COVID-19, le cas échéant, sur sa capacité de lutte contre la traite. Par conséquent, le Libéria est resté au niveau 2 », lit-on dans le document publié jeudi 15 juin.

La menace du ministre Tweah n'est qu'une farce

Le ministre des Finances Samuel D. Tweah a menacé de retenir les salaires des ministres, des directeurs d'agences et des commissaires des commissions s'ils ne présentent pas leurs rapports sur l'exécution du budget selon le délai imparti.

"Ce n'est pas moi qui ai fait cette loi ; c'est le parlement. La loi demande au ministre des Finances de retenir les salaires des fonctionnaires qui n'auront pas présenté leur rapport sur l'utilisation du budget qui leur a été alloué », a expliqué Tweah le lundi 4 juin, lors de la cérémonie de signature de quatre nouveaux accords entre le gouvernement du Libéria et l'Union européenne. Il s'agit des accords financiers de 80 et 88 millions de dollars américains.

Mais nous pensons que cette mesure est très tardive.

Quand est-ce que le ministre Tweah s'est-il rendu compte que ces institutions ne présentent pas de rapports de performance pour les fonds qui leur sont alloués?

Il est au pouvoir depuis cinq ans, il n'a jamais appliqué une telle loi. Alors pourquoi maintenant?

D'année en année, cela a été un problème majeur pour les ministres, les directeurs de société et les chefs de commissions qui comparaissent devant l'Assemblée législative pour défendre leurs budgets. En fait, les ministres ont l'audace de demander des augmentations de leurs allocations sans présenter des rapports détaillés des dépenses de l'année précédente. Et le gouvernement, sous la direction du ministre Samuel Tweah, a procédé à des augmentations pour plusieurs ministères.

Par exemple, des augmentations ont été faites pour les ministères de la santé, de l'éducation et de l'agriculture, parmi plusieurs autres, sans qu'il y ait eu de rapport sur les dépenses de l'exercice précédent. Aujourd'hui, le secteur de l'éducation du pays est en ruine, des bâtiments scolaires publics étant délabrés. Les écoles à travers le pays sont dotées d'enseignants bénévoles qui ne reçoivent pas encore de salaire.

C'est aussi le cas pour les secteurs de la santé et de l'agriculture, où des millions ont été alloués par le ministère des Finances sans aucun progrès sur le terrain.

Et maintenant, Tweah veut faire croire aux partenaires étrangers qu'il est sérieux en matière de gestion des finances publiques, alors que la réalité en pratique est totalement le contraire.

En fait, la loi sur la gestion des finances publiques du Libéria est en vigueur depuis l'administration de l'ancienne présidente Ellen Johnson Sirleaf. Alors pourquoi Tweah, en tant que ministre des Finances, n'a-t-il pas appliqué cette loi comme une politique financière prudente jusqu'à présent?

Ce sont quelques-uns des services de pure forme de nos fonctionnaires. Sans volonté politique, ils prétendent être durs dans l'application des lois, pourtant en réalité c'est toute une autre chose. Cela a maintenu le Libéria dans un cercle vicieux sans aucun progrès tangible.

Le gouvernement essaie de se faire passer pour des gens durs en pleine année électorale. Mais qu'il fasse attention car cette stratégie pourrait éroder davantage la confiance du public. Il risque bien de se tirer une balle dans la jambe avec les munitions du ministre Tweah, qui semble faire preuve d'un zèle excessif pour faire sortir un visage qui n'existe pas.

Si la bonne chose n'a jamais été faite au début, dans quelle mesure peut-elle être pertinente à la fin?

LEC electrifies 4 communities

By Emmanuel wise Jipoh

he Liberia Electricity Corporation (LEC) has commenced the Gap Communities Electrification Project (G-CEP) Project, which seeks to expand electricity in slum communities and help curtail power theft.

The Executive Director for Engineering and Major Connections (PEMC) at LEC, Dele I. Shobayo, said the project is an effort to overcome power poverty while decentralizing electricity to foster socioeconomic development and improve livelihoods of residents.

According to Mr. Shobayo, communities targeted were not initially part of the LEC- Powergrid plan across the country, but it's the Corporation's own way of supporting government's efforts to improve livelihoods while emphasizing that the initiative

However, Mr. Shobayo acknowledged that electricity remains a huge gap that needs to be filled in the country's journey to fulfilling its full potential.

In response, beneficiaries of the targeted communities have lauded the Government of Liberia through the LEC Management for timely reaching out to them.

Elder David Lame, of Lone Star Cell Number One, Jacob Town Community, lauded the LEC team for restoring electricity to the community, which has been finding it very difficult to have electricity, something, he noted poses threat uling Coalition for Democratic Change (CDC) chairman Mulbah K. Morlu says President George Manneh Weah will win the October 2023 elections in the first round due to the government's involvement in the vote-rich Nimba and Lofa Counties.

By Lewis S. Teh

"President Weah will deliver the people of Nimba County from its dictatorship in this upcoming election," Mr. Morlu said at CDC headquarters over the weekend.

Mr. Morlu bragged at the CDC headquarters over the weekend about the government's construction of roads and undertaking many developmental initiatives in the two counties to better the lives of citizens

He claimed that there was no way the ruling party can lose the elections.

The CDC chairman believes that the assertion that Mr. Weah can't win in Nimba and Lofa Counties in the October polls does not exist anymore.

Morlu suggested that his party didn't win Lofa and Nimba in the 2017 elections because the CDC was less involved in those counties at the time.

political godfathers of Lofa and Nimba of turning out to be dictators.

According to Morlu, some stayed in power for 12 years but they can't point to a single project being undertaken in the county.

"Don't give us the impression that because you were vice president so you couldn't do anything, you can't cajole our people with that," said Mr. Morlu.

President Weah's main rival Amb. Joseph Nyumah Boakai hails from Lofa County, and he served as vice president during former President Ellen Johnson-Sirleaf's two terms.

On the other hand, Nimba County Senator Prince Y. Johnson and his Movement for Democracy and Reconstruction (MDR) have withdrawn their support from President Weah and the CDC and switched loyalty to Mr. Boakai.

Morlu alleged that the Nimba County Senator is a dictator that wants to stall the development of the county by allegedly turning citizens of the county against President Weah.

Dillon said he made some commitments during the meeting since they were seeking his endorsement and approval to help convince Senator Karnga-Lawrence to go as Cummings' running mate.

However, Dillon said he declined because he saw no good commitment to his issues.

During the show, Dillon said he did not have any fear that Madam Sirleaf's global influence could change the dynamics of the political arena and deny Amb. Boakai the chance of becoming the next president of Liberia.

Senator Dillon insisted that the international community will accept what the majority of the people want in a democracy. He believes that Madam Sirleaf can't change anything.

"I don't see Madam Sirleaf having [the] power to stop Amb. Boakai [from] being the next President. That can only happen unless we don't vote in [the] majority or recruit pool watchers," Dillon argued.

According to Dillon, Mrs. Sirleaf is allegedly influencing the decision of Mr. Cummings, leader of the opposition Collaborating Political Parties (CPP).

Senator Dillon narrated that he received a call from Mrs. Sirleaf for a meeting after Amb. Boakai selected Nimba County Senator Jeremiah Koung as his running mate over Grand Bassa County Senator Nyonblee Karnga-Lawrence.

He stated that he agreed and he and Madam Sirleaf met for over thirty minutes, had a conversation and they were later joined by Mr. Cummings and embattled Liberty Party chairman Musa Bility.
